Two Bethel boards recommend against Mason Street sidewalk

By ALISON ALOISIO
If Bethel voters approve the Mason Street sidewalk project at the June 10 Town Meeting, it will be against the recommendation of selectmen and the Budget Committee.

The original project, proposed in 2006, called for construction of a 2,500-foot asphalt sidewalk along the north side of Mason Street, ending at the Crescent Park Elementary School.

The Maine Department of Transportation approved a grant application for $96,460 to go toward the work.

At the 2007 annual Town Meeting, voters agreed to provide the town's share, primarily through work contributed by the town crew. The value listed on the grant application was $38,000.

But subsequently, some Mason Street residents objected to the plan. Among the con-

Selectmen and budgeteers weighing options on BIG property, BFD station

By ALISON ALOISIO
After an auction last week that drew no bidders, the Norway Savings Bank, the mortgage holder, bought the BIG Adventure recreation center in Bethel, according to town officials.

The cost was a reported $230,000.

The next night, at a joint meeting of the Bethel Budget Committee and selectmen, budgeteer Ron Savage wondered aloud if there was potential for the town to acquire the property for its own recreational use.

Noting the proximity of the snowmobile bridge and walking trails, "It's an ideal piece of land for snow machine parking; a future park for the town," he said.

The Planning Board, said Savage, has had its own discussions about a lack of parking for snowmobiles and walkers.

BIG has a large, lighted parking lot.

The business had also offered laser tag, located in a

Greenwood campground owner again protests water level in pond

By MICHAEL DANIELS
It's back into the pool for the Greenwood Dam Committee. Town selectmen agreed last week to call another meeting of the committee -- in response to renewed complaints that the water level in North, South and Round ponds is too high.

The Dam Committee was formed in 2007 and charged with managing the Alder River dam in Locke Mills, which controls (to the extent that man influences such matters) the water level in the three ponds behind the impoundment.

The water level had been a matter of off-and-on concern since 2001, when town voters agreed to take possession of the dam, from the bankrupt Gilbert Manufacturing Company.

At the time the town took possession, the dam had serious structural problems, including leaks that often contributed to low water levels in

Boat capsizes on Umbagog Bethel couple rescue teens

By ALISON ALOISIO
At around lunch time on Memorial Day, Vernon and Tammy Davis of Bethel were at their camp on Lake Umbagog.

It was a windy day and the water was very rough. "We almost went back to Bethel," said Tammy. "But Vernon said, 'Let's go down and pile some brush.'"

Fortunately for five teenagers from Berlin, N.H., that's just what the couple did.

"We were down there, not very far from shore, and I could hear a boat coming," said Tammy. "And then I couldn't hear it any more."

She looked out over the water and saw the white underside of a boat, with a propeller sticking up.

"I said, 'Vernon, is that boat upside down? They need help!'"

"We dropped everything and just ran to our dock. We were the only ones on that side of the lake with a boat yesterday."

The Davises jumped into their motorboat and started out for the capsized craft, which Tammy estimated to be at least 100 yards from

THANK YOU, CONTRACTORS

To the Editor:

On Saturday, May 16, for the first time in the 40-year history of Telstar Regional High School, SAD44 area contractors and subcontractors donated their time, equipment and expertise to provide a makeover of the interior, exterior and grounds of the Telstar complex.

More than 85 contractors, subcontractors, parents, high school students and Telstar middle and high school administrators all signed in at 7 a.m. and worked on a variety of projects until 4:30 p.m.

Nine hours later the makeover included: five newly painted classrooms, the middle school office hallway and workroom floor tiled, and the TMS conference room carpeted; electric power and post holes for the anticipated new Telstar Middle/High School sign; painting the back wall of the gym as well as the building's trim and doors navy blue; a new walking path leading to middle school and high school ball fields; shingling the baseball and softball field dugouts; roofs and installing protective fencing around them; landscaping of the banking behind softball field and ditching of fields for better water control; construction of portable potting enclosures; repairing the ski storage building siding; the addition of newly constructed compost bins; creating new and enlarging several flower gardens; mulching and planting of perennials around front entryway areas; filling and leveling parking and the access roads at rear and side of complex.

The above "job list" was the brainchild of Rick Savage of Savage Construction. After seeing some of the exterior and interior projects the Telstar Twelve did this past summer and fall, Rick spoke with me in March about having a Contractors Day sometime in the spring. In two month's time, Rick promoted the event and secured the needed contractors to work together for the improvements to many aspects of the Telstar complex.

I take the risk of leaving someone out, in trying to recognize and express my gratitude to more than 85 contractors and SAD44 community members who worked at the Telstar complex.

However, on behalf of the SAD44 school community, I wish to thank the major contractors of The First Annual Contractors Day: Savage Construction, Vernon Davis Painting, D.A. Wilson & Company, Cross Excavation, Everett Construction, Douglass Bros. Construction, Currier Electric, J.R. Hayes Landscaping, Earth Design Associates, Dennis Doyon Septic Services, Interiors and More, Pine Tree Waste, Quality Home Builders, SAD44 Buildings and Grounds Supervisor Burnie Rice. Special appreciation to Western Maine Supply, for donating a large variety of supplies and materials; to the Bethel Area Business Association for providing breakfast; and the Bethel Inn for providing lunch for the contractors and workers.

The growing amount of enthusiasm, camaraderie and pride in workmanship for the improvements and additions to the Telstar Complex was evident as the day progressed.

I also enjoyed and won't forget seeing the reaction of Telstar middle and high school staff and students as they came onto the grounds and entered the school building on Monday morning and throughout the school day.

Thank you area contractors and all businesses and companies and community members for all you did and provided in the makeover of the Telstar Complex.

Daniel Hart
Principal, Telstar Regional High School

VOTE FOR THE SIDEWALK

To the Editor:

It's great seeing the children walking together to school. The vision re-enforces the message I got at a workshop last week on Active Communities, which brought together many of the people from all over the state who are working on pedestrian and bike routes.

There are amazing initiatives happening all over the state. The projection is that people will move away from cars towards alternative modes of transportation, i.e. biking and walking, by 20-40 percent in the near future.

At the conference we were asked repeatedly: "What is your community doing to be prepared, what infrastructure is being developed?"

The town of Bethel was awarded a safe-routes-to-school grant that would fill in one of the links of getting our children a sidewalk to the school. Of course this would be a wonderful in-town walking route that many people would use besides the children.

There is a concern regarding the cost but when you consider the benefits, i.e. economic, community, health and fitness, the cost is far outweighed. For example, Portland, Maine, was voted as one of the best cities in the country to live in and one of the reasons is the walkability of the town.

Let's not delay this project any longer and put future grant money in jeopardy. Please come to the Town Meeting on June 10 and vote for the sidewalk.

SENIORS SET SAILS

To the Editor:

The Bethel Senior Citizens Club is planning a trip to Weirs Beach to sail on the M/S Mount Washington on Lake Winnepesaukee in New Hampshire on July 8. The club will be leaving at 8 a.m. from the Bethel Health Center on Railroad Street.

The members of the Greenwood/Woodstock Club are invited to join us as well as the members of the Dixfield/Mexico Club.

The cost for the boat ride is $32, which includes a ticket to get on the boat and the buffet lunch. SAD44 is renting us a bus the same as they did last year. I am not sure of the cost yet for the bus. It could be $10 depending on how many are coming for the boat ride. I realize this is a lot of money for this trip.

There will be a sign-up sheet at our June meeting on June 10 at Pleasant Valley Grange in West Bethel. Anyone can call Arlene Lowell at 824-2877 or Nancy Mercer at 824-3350 to sign up if unable to make the meeting.

SWIM CLINIC, TRAINING ROUNDTABLE

To the Editor:

A swimming clinic of special interest to triathlon participants and an endurance training roundtable for anyone with an interest in running, cycling, swimming, Nordic skiing, and other endurance sports will be held at the Bethel Inn Resort Pool and Recreation Center on Sunday, June 7, from 4 to 7 p.m. The program is hosted by the Bethel Outing Club, and sponsored by Gould Academy and the Maine State Triathlon and Aquabike scheduled for Aug. 2, 2009.

The swim clinic will be led by Maury McKinney, a full-time aquatic educator and coach as well as an accomplished open-water distance, competitor and nationally ranked Masters swimmer from North Conway. The clinic is open to any swimmer who wants to learn to swim better, regardless of experience level. There will be two 90-minute swim sessions, one at 4 p.m. and one at 5:30 p.m. The swim sessions will include discussion, swim drills, and review focused on helping swimmers to be more comfortable, confident, and efficient in the water. Swim training philosophy and triathlon-specific strategies for improvement will be incorporated into the teaching of the lesson. McKinney says he aspires to help swimmers be "safe, beautiful, and slippery" in the water.

The roundtable discussion will begin at 5:30 p.m. in the Recreation Center adjacent to the pool, and will be facilitated by former Olympic Team cross-country skiing coach Dick Taylor, for coaches, athletes, and parents. Like the swimming session, anyone interested in training is invited regardless of ability. Taylor is a master coach with a gift for articulating the key components of effective training programs and the nuances of efficient movement in sport.

The fee for the swim clinic is $15 ($10 for Bethel Outing Club members). Pool space is limited and registration forms (available at www.bethelouting.org) will be accepted with payment on a first come, first served basis. All swim clinic registrants need to bring a towel, suit, and goggles. There is no charge or pre-registration required for the roundtable discussion, although participants may wish to bring a healthy snack, beverage, or hors d'oeuvres to share.

The purpose of the Bethel Outing Club is to promote Nordic skiing and family-oriented outings with particular emphasis on youth ski programs. Questions may be directed to the club's secretary, Kirk Siegel, by e-mail to kirks@megalink.net. Register online for the Maine State Triathlon, including the Kids' Triathlon at www.active.com or e-mail the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce, info@bethelmaine.com for an application.

Sidewalk

cerns were the location and length of the sidewalk.

An ad hoc committee was formed to make new recommendations, but by 2008 there was still no consensus.

A study by MDOT followed, and concluded with a recommendation supporting the original plan to put the sidewalk on the north side of the road.

Early this year, the interested parties reached a consensus to request a preliminary design, with a formal estimated cost.

Under the scenario, Bethel would provide cash instead of work by the town crew. And instead of asphalt, the sidewalk would be made of longer-lasting concrete.

But last week, after receiving an estimate that called for $63,626 as the town share, a majority of both boards opposed the project.

The total cost of the sidewalk, estimated by A.E. Hodson Co., would be $160,086.

Pros and cons

The Bethel boards aired their views last week before voting.

"I've been against it from the beginning," said selectman Dennis Doyon.

Noting the economy and recent layoffs at Sunday River Ski Resort, Doyon said, "I don't see how you can ask the taxpayers to keep coming up with more and more and more money just because it's a pet project ... It's great to have sidewalks if you can pay for them. If you can't pay for them, you shouldn't have them."

At their 2009 Annual Town Meeting in June, Bethel residents will have the final say on whether or not to build a sidewalk along Mason Street.

He also said he knew of two residents who were opposed to the project but were afraid to speak out publicly.

Selectman Don Bennett said he had supported the project because he had the impression a majority of residents on the street wanted it. But he acknowledged he has since become "more of a skeptic," and unsure how much citizen support there is.

Selectman Stan Howe said sidewalks are important to Bethel and he favored the project, although he said he was concerned about the cost.

"With almost $100,000 in federal assistance, it would be a terrible time not to do something," he said.

Budget Committee member Ron Savage said the project was worthwhile, but like Doyon, he opposed it because of the current economy.

Budgeteer Joe Arizzi, however, didn't see prospects looking brighter down the road. He said it's now or never.

"It's only going to cost more money in the future," he said.

Barb Russell, a member of the ad hoc committee who also assisted with the grant application, attended the meeting.

"I can understand people's concerns," she said, "I would say since the town has voted in favor of it once, to not be given that opportunity again, I don't think that would be fair to the townspeople. At least give them the opportunity, show them the facts, the figures, and let them make their decision."

Both boards voted to put the question to the people.

But the Budget Committee voted 7-3 to recommend against the project, while selectmen voted 3-2.

"Now we will find out what the voters want to do," said Howe.

building, as well as a water-slide and minigolf.

Skatepark site?

The six-acre site could also provide a spot for a planned skatepark, Savage said.

The park project is currently proposed for Davis Park.

But, said Savage, "the skatepark is jammed right up there against the riverbank," on a site approximately a half-acre in size.

BIG's minigolf course could be made available to residents, he said.

"We could see if the Norway Savings Bank has any interest in a Norway Savings Bank/Bethel Park," he said. "Maybe there's some money out there. Maybe the Chamber of Commerce has access to some money. Maybe it would be a good spot for them."

Savage acknowledged the economic climate in which he was broaching the subject.

"In good economic times it's a great idea for the town," he said. "In these economic times it's a horrible idea ... but I just thought it would be worth having a conversation."

Asked how the town might go about exploring options, Town Manager Scott Cole said, "Get the best offer you can, and take it to the town."

"It ought to be looked into," said Selectmen Chair Stan Howe.

Fire station

After several years of frustration and remedial/finish work on the five-year-old Bethel Fire Station, the Budget Committee this spring asked for an estimate to reroof the structure.

The price tag, they learned last week, would be $128,000.

Selectman Dennis Doyon had another suggestion.

"I make a motion that we take all the fire trucks out of the fire station for some week-end and we burn this ***** building down and rebuild it properly," he said.

The building has been plagued with leaks that town officials have attributed to construction deficiencies.

On May 15, Hahnel Brothers Co. of Lewiston wrote in a proposal that "the existing roof design is low-sloped with several conditions vulnerable to water infiltration."

The company suggested a metal retrofit system.

But no one at last week's meeting proposed moving ahead with a new roof.

Instead, discussion turned to pursuing those responsible for constructing the roof.

Fire Chief Mike Jodrey said Hahnel Brothers was "appalled" with its condition.

Ron Savage said he believed the town had a case against the builder.

"I think we have litigation on this roof," he said. "I don't like to see a contractor get sued, but if it's that bad and it's that new, I think we have to go forward with that ... there's no reason for the taxpayers to eat 130 grand ... I don't know how we keep looking the other way."

Town officials were uncertain of the status of the project's contractor, or the identity of the subcontractor who built the roof.

Savage suggested the town research records on the project and have the town attorney look into possible litigation.

Howe agreed. "I think we should pursue legal ramifications," he said.

Maine unemployment figures

AUGUSTA—State Labor Commissioner Laura Fortman announced that the preliminary seasonally-adjusted April unemployment rate for Maine was 7.9 percent, down slightly from 8.1 percent for March and up from 5.1 percent for April 2008. The national unemployment rate was 8.9 percent for April, steady from 8.9 percent for March and up from 5.0 percent for April 2008. "Although this is the first time in a year that Maine's unemployment rate has fallen significantly below the national average, it is not likely due to an improvement in the global economy," Fortman said. "The size of the labor force has decreased for the last three months, partly due to the fact that some discouraged workers gave up their job search and are no longer counted as unemployed for purposes of calculating the unemployment rate." Seasonally-adjusted nonfarm wage and salary employment fell by 2,700 in April, contributing to an over the year drop of 19,400 jobs. Job losses were registered in trade, transportation, and utilities; manufacturing; construction; leisure and hospitality services; professional and business services; government; financial activities; information; and other services. Job gains were recorded in educational and health services. Other New England states reporting a seasonally-adjusted unemployment rate for April include New Hampshire, 6.3 percent; Connecticut, 7.9 percent; Massachusetts, 8.0 percent; and Rhode Island, 11.1 percent. The not-seasonally-adjusted Maine unemployment rate for April was 8.3 percent, down from 9.0 percent for March and up from 5.0 percent for April 2008. The unadjusted national rate was 8.6 percent for April, up from 9.0 percent for March and 4.8 percent for April 2008. Not-seasonally-adjusted April unemployment rates for Maine counties ranged from 6.0 percent for Cumberland County to 14.3 percent for Piscataquis County.

York toll traffic up

YORK—The Maine Turnpike Authority says preliminary traffic counts show Memorial Day weekend traffic at the York toll plaza was 1.1 percent higher than during the same four-day holiday period in 2008. But traffic along the entire York-to-Augusta toll road was down 1.7 percent during the long weekend. In releasing the figures Tuesday, turnpike spokesman Dan Paradee noted that traffic at the York tolls has traditionally been an indicator of Maine's tourism economy and the state economy in general.

Eagles delisted

AUGUSTA—Maine Gov. John Baldacci is signing legislation to remove the bird that symbolizes America from the state's list of endangered and threatened species. The ceremonial signing that comes amid a rebound in bald eagle populations in Maine and across the nation is being held Tuesday in Augusta's Capitol Park. The federal government took the eagle off its endangered list in 2007. The state's bill was designed to bring Maine law into sync with federal policy. State and federal law first recognized the bald eagle as an endangered species in Maine and 42 other states in 1978. It was reclassified as a threatened species in 1995.

CORRECTION

STUDENT POPULATION 1,000—A press release regarding school consolidation from Rep. Jarrod Crockett's office that appeared in last week's Citizen should have said that geographically isolated school systems are exempted from the state requirement to form regional school units with a student population of at least 1,000.

Rescue

shore.

When they reached it, "there were a couple of them sitting on top of the boat, and some were in the water," she said.

None had life jackets, said Tammy.

The two teens on the boat were able to climb aboard with the Davises. They pulled two others from the water.

But they couldn't pull the third, a girl, from the lake.

Fortunately, by then a second boat had arrived and the teen was able to climb the craft's ladder to safety.

"The water was rough, and it was cold. They couldn't have stayed out there very long," Tammy said.

She said the girl appeared to possibly have a broken arm, and several of the other teens were bleeding from cuts and gashes.

The Davises brought them to shore, to the camp where the boat's driver lived.

"It was a brand new boat. The dad had just taken it from the landing to the camp, and the kids took it out," said Tammy.

The Davises' boat was much older — a 1965 model they had bought for about $200.

"It runs like a charm," she said.

Tammy said she wasn't worried about it capsizing as they hurried to the rescue.

"Vernon is pretty good with boats. I wasn't even thinking about that. I just kept saying, 'go faster!'"

The teen driver, she said, didn't know what caused his boat to capsize. He was traveling with the wind.

Speculation led to the possible conclusion that the waves lifted the stern high up, forcing the bow below the water.

Four of the teens were taken to the hospital in Berlin to be checked, Tammy said.

The upside-down boat was towed to shore, and was expected to be lifted from the water Tuesday.

"We were glad it turned out the way it did," Tammy said.

Water level

the ponds, especially during the late summers.

Town voters agreed to repair the dam, at a cost of nearly $140,000, and when the repairs were completed, in 2004, the leaks stopped.

And the complaints began.

"You might say when we got it repaired was the beginning of our problem," Selectman Arnold Jordan said last week.

Arthur Parks, owner of Littlefield Beaches, complained that he was losing campsites to the rising waters; other shorefront property owners complained of winter ice damage.

But when town officials responded by removing the top boards from the dam, and allowing more water out, other shorefront property owners began complaining (especially during the late summer) that the water level was too low, and their shorelines were retreating into mudflats.

In 2007 the selectmen held a public hearing on the situation, and listened to two and a half hours of often angry opinions about the water level.

The following year, however, a tentative compromise was reached, and a target water level at the dam was agreed upon.

At the time Parks said:

"That's the level I'm dry at. I can run a business. I can bring people to town."

But Parks was back to see the selectmen last week, complaining that the water level was too high.

He argued both that the level agreed upon last year was not carved in stone, but "was a 'try-me' thing," and that in any case the Dam Committee had consistently allowed the water level to rise well above even that level.

"The water level that we agreed to try last summer is not low enough — if we have a half inch of rain, it translates into about two inches at the dam," he said, "and by then I'm under water. There's not enough leeway there."

And, he argued, the Dam Committee was failing to maintain even that level.

"They're not reacting to [the weather]. They're not watching the forecast and going out in the rain and doing it. By the time the rains come, the damage is done, my campers are swimming," Parks said.

"If they were doing the job, it wouldn't be so bad for me, but they're not doing the job," Parks complained.

When he purchased the campground, nine years ago, Parks told the selectmen,

"it was a dry area," but now parts of the campground near the water are "a wet, marshy area, and when people camp there once they won't camp there a second time."

But Selectman Amy Chapman, whose family has had a camp on North Pond for nearly half a century didn't think the water level had risen significantly.

"In my experience the water is about now where it has always been," Chapman said. "Historically I think it's close to where it's been for 50 years."

She said a boat that has been in the family for all that time, "still scrapes in the same places going under [Johnny's Bridge]. I've been going under the same bridge in the same boat my entire life, and I just don't see that it's changed."

The selectmen ultimately agreed to call a meeting of the Dam Committee to look into the matter.

And Jordan conceded that perhaps the committee "could be a little more proactive, instead of reactive," in managing the level.

The committee will also look into the possibility of lowering the target level at the dam by an inch and a half, as proposed by Parks.

The Way I See It

by Sharon Bouchard

After a long, hard winter I'm happy to say that I'm on the yard sale trail again. Happy trails to me. Just like devoted golfers and runners, it doesn't matter what the weather is, I'm out there.

The winter months bring pretty slim picking for bargain hunters like me. We show up at the church rummage sales, but those are few and far between. Nothing compares to the large number of yard/porch/garage/barn sales that are held every weekend from May through October.

There isn't anything particular that I'm looking for except some depression glass, but looking for something particular is totally beside the point. The point is finding the bargains and when necessary dickering over the price.

I know that there are people who are on a mission seeking that one special thing to add to their collection. They're easy to pick out because they pull up to the sale, do a very quick scan of the items and unless they spot that one special thing they get right back in their cars and take off. When they do spot that one special thing they go right to it, caress it like a lover with a look of pure joy in their eyes.

And there are always the dealers and eBay sellers looking to find profitable treasures. You can spot them a mile away. They have a very serious look on their faces and spend a lot of time looking for makers' marks or dates on items that look old or collectible. They completely ignore the "Tater Twisters" and unused "Chia Pets" even though they may be tagged with give-away prices.

But, the majority of people you will find going from sale to sale and yard to yard on Saturday mornings are the "Pick 'n Paw" yard salers. That's where I fit in.

The people having the sales love to see us coming. We will take our time and look over just about everything and we rarely leave a sale without buying something.

And, oh the things I have bought. I do find an item every now and then that I sell on eBay for a decent return, but that's a bonus when it happens. For the most part I'm just buying things I think will have some useful purpose in my life.

I have amassed quite a collection of salad bowls and vases that I never use. I have a real weakness for books and rarely walk away without buying at least one that I'll probably never get around to reading.

And, oh the things I have bought.

It's really hard for me to pass up so much stuff that sells for $1.00 or less. My house is full of stuff with 25 and 50-cent stickers still stuck on them. I have more glasses and mugs in my cupboard than I have room for, but for only 10 cents, you just can't walk away from them.

Every now and then I decide that I have to clean some of the stuff out. After all, there is a limit of how much junk one can accumulate. I will very carefully go over everything and decide what I can part with. Considering the fact that I have not used or read most of the stuff I have bought in the past year, parting with it shouldn't be a problem, but I usually agonize over just about everything.

Once I've managed to let go of all the useless stuff I have a yard sale of my own. Yard sales are really a lot of work and most of the time, at least for me, not very profitable. But, I can always hope.

One reason for the low profit is that my daughter and daughter-in-law are seeing some things that they didn't know I had and they just have to have them. I'm certainly not going to charge my family so there goes any profit on about half of my stuff.

Whatever doesn't go to my kids or doesn't sell, I end up donating to a church rummage sale.

Then during the cold winter months when I'm hankering for a good deal, I go to the rummage sale and end up buying all kinds of stuff, very often including my own junk that I donated in the first place.

Last winter I bought a couple of items I thought were great only to discover that my daughter had gotten them from my yard sale the previous summer.

And so it goes on like this years after year. I hit the yard sale trail and come home with all kinds of goodies. Some of it I will sell on eBay, some of it I will sell in my own yard sale, some of it I will donate to the church and buy it back again. Most of it will end up in my cupboards and closets waiting for the day it will be of use.

I've made some good deals and certainly more than my share of bad ones, but I've had a lot of fun doing it. This upcoming Saturday, rain or shine, you'll find me out there "Picking 'n Pawning" my way through other people's stuff. And the way I see it, this just might be the week I come across something worthy of Antiques Road Show or at least good enough for the church rummage sale. You never know when you'll come across an unused Chia Pet.

Bethel

by Donald G. Bennett
The Faye Taylor Art Show sponsored by the Bethel Historical Society was held on Saturday, May 23. It is traditionally held on Memorial Day weekend as an opportunity for SAD44 elementary students to display their art work in a judged exhibition. Each year's exhibition has a special theme to guide contestants. This year's theme was old-time toys and games (kids chose croquet, jump rope, horseshoes, dominoes, etc. as a theme for their picture). The art show has been held every year since 1980. Cash prizes are awarded to the first three best entries in three divisions: 1st and 2nd grade, 3rd and 4th grade and 5th and 6th grade.

The winners were Grades 1 and 2: First Place, Hannah Evans Grade 2; Second, Peyton Hart, Grade 2; and Third, Brooke Richardson, Grade 2. From Grades 3 and 4: First Place, Emily Foss, Grade 4; Second Luke Davis, Grade 4; and Third, Jay-nay Learned Stewart, Grade 3. From Grade 5: First Place, Tarin McLaughlin; Second, Andrew Siegel; and Third, Ani Inman. All entries came from Crescent Park School students.

Bethel's Memorial Day program on the common benefited from excellent weather, a large crowd and an accomplished, first-rate speaker Oxford County Sheriff Wayne Gallant. Those who had gathered to honor the day and lend support to the occasion numbered well over 300, a heartening sight to those who were responsible for arranging the ceremony and especially Bethel's World War II vets.

Sheriff Gallant spoke of the over one and one-half million men and women who had died for their country from all conflicts beginning with our revolution. The day was in their honor. Then he went on to tell of his experience in returning from duty in Vietnam and the bitterness he had encountered that was shown by Americans toward the military as they returned home from Vietnam duty. He had not received a really friendly greeting until arriving home and being taken by his father to the Rumford VFW hall.

Thanks to Bethel's Legion Post for all of the day's arrangements, the parade marchers, the public address system that worked well and their selection of a guest speaker. This year's Miss Poppy, Daisy Troop girls and parents, Boy and Girl Scouts, the Mahoosuc Community Band and many others in town made the occasion a fine show of public awareness and respect.

Memorial Day observance in Bethel a century or so ago involved a similar but somewhat different program than the assembly we are generally familiar with these days. (Now with the invention of the three-day holiday weekend our attention is directed more to leisure, gas grill cookouts and tourism instead of reverence, respect and honor of sacrifice - not so at the end of the 19th Century.)

ARLENE GREENLEAF HONORED—Rep. Sheryl Briggs, D-Mexico, honored Bethel/Med-Care EMT Arlene Greenleaf for her 37 years of service at the State House Tuesday. Briggs ordered an expression of legislative sentiment from the Maine Legislature and made a presentation to the House of Representatives noting Greenleaf's accomplishments and dedication to the people of western Maine. In 2007, Greenleaf became permanently disabled during an accident while she was transporting a patient to Central Maine Medical Center. Greenleaf was recognized again later in the day by Governor Baldacci at the Maine Emergency Medical Services Awards. She is shown here (left) with Briggs last week prior to the 22nd Annual Maine Emergency Medical Services Awards at the State Capitol.

In 1890, the public observance in Bethel was centered on the Congregational Church where a Union memorial service was held. The mayor of Portland, Mr. Holman S. Melcher, was the invited guest speaker. Choirs from the village's three churches along with the Choral Club combined hymns and patriotic music at the service. At that time, only 25 years had passed since the end of the Civil War and many of that war's veterans participated in the ceremonies. One-hundred eighty "Bethel boys" had left town as they were absorbed into the Grand Army of the Republic. Memories of the "War of Rebellion" were still very strong in the 1890s.

The 1893 Memorial Day program called for Brown Post of the G.A.R., the Ladies Relief Corps, citizens and several schools to assemble and march to Evergreen Cemetery (now known as Woodland Cemetery) where services were to be held. At 7:30 p.m. the Memorial Day address was to be given at Odeon Hall by Col. Thompson of Cambridge, Mass.

In the afternoon we went northward in search of more memorials — this time into the wilderness of upper Sunday River. Our first stop was at the Riley Plantation cemetery which had been started as a family burial ground much like other cemeteries in Bethel and Newry. The Fifield family was the originators of the Riley or Ketchum cemetery. The cemetery was part of their homestead property.

Graves of two long-ago residents had been decorated with American flags: Hezekiah Pingree, and the sons of Jonathan Leavitt. The flag holder by the Pingree grave is for the War of 1812 and the flag holder at the Leavitt grave is not for one of the sons but for their father, Jonathan Leavitt. The father is also buried in the Riley Cemetery but in an unmarked grave.

In the Sunday River Sketches researched and written by Martha Fifield Wilkins, edited by Randy Bennett, Mrs. Wilkins wrote that the flag at this grave was intended for Jonathan Leavitt. She goes on to write that she was told he was in the Revolutionary War but she doubted that. Actually, the flag holder at the Leavitt grave reads "Mexican War".

In combing through Mrs. Wilkins' book while pulling together a current Sunday River history, I noticed that Jonathan Leavitt had married Mary Bennett, a daughter of John Bennett of Gilead; he was a "Pioneer of the Magalloway." John Bennett was my great, great, great grandfather. The western part of Riley Township borders Gilead. Gilead loggers worked extensively in Riley.

Considering its remoteness and the fact that Riley no longer has full-time residents that I know of, the cemetery is kept in surprising good condition. The cemetery is in itself an excellent memorial to those hardy souls who settled, farmed and logged this section of the state.

The second memorial of our search was in the river bed of Bull Branch, the main stem of Sunday River in that neck of the woods. This search has some humor to it. I wanted to find and photograph the other "Frenchman's Hole," which lies within the huge ledge formation in Bull Branch that is downstream from the twin bridges. This is where a log driving and mill dam was once located, where the earliest Fifield settler had built a saw mill and where a Fifield teenager had drowned. Not far from the dam site is an inscription chiseled into the dome shaped top of the ledge that reads "S. B. Hatch Oct 11 1867". This inscription and Mrs. Wilkins' reference to it plus her photograph of the ledge in her book is the evidence in this case which confirms which "hole" in the river we are talking about.

Overjoyed at finding the second, actually the first, Frenchman's Hole and with sunny weather to photograph the evidence, we moved on up the valley a short distance to take a photo of the better known, now a State of Maine public recreational blessing, Frenchman's Hole, and the waterfall coming over its waterfall, stronger on Monday and with more volume than you see on YouTube.

Our afternoon trip ended at the Letter S pool where our dog Hays was able to get a good drink and a swim.

For the record, it is 9.4 miles from our house to the publicly well-known Frenchman's Hole.

I am happy to report that we seem to have a resident wood thrush on the property. At least, one was heard on several occasions as we walked around the yard or sat on the back porch. That's the first in a long time. I think the lady-slippers are opening up at last, and now I'll begin my compulsive counting again. They are so pretty that I find it impossible to resist tallying!

Speaking of flowers, don't forget the Bethel Library's plant sale on Saturday morning, rain or shine. Hope to see you there at this win-win event. You win by getting great plant bargains, and the library wins by garnering some much-needed funds; and then you win all over again with the additional books, DVDs, magazines, and free computer use the library will be able to provide.

Gary Inman called us early last Friday morning to report that a bear trespassed on their property at about 3 a.m. and ripped apart the chicken coop and ate a chicken! They heard the ruckus and actually witnessed the dastardly deed. Upon hearing this, Mike decided it was time to take down our feeders before said bear did it for us. Jen at the Corner Store reported a bear sighting next door to them last week also.

Today, Thursday, May 28, the shearing team will be at Sunday River Alpacas starting at around 11 a.m. It is always an interesting day, and there is at least one baby alpaca (called a "cria") to ooh and aah over, and quite possibly three more brand new ones by this date. Maybe we'll see you there.

Mike and I just returned from a long weekend of fishing at East Grand Lake and East Grand Lake Stream in Forest City, New Brunswick. We met our friends and part-time Flat Road neighbors, Val and Taylor Thompson, there, and we all stayed in a cottage about 200 yards from the Canadian Customs building. While fishing we could wave to other fishermen who were on the American side of the water.

Everyone, including the two Thompson boys, Graham and Warren, caught fish, mostly land-locked salmon, but a few small-mouth bass and white perch as well. I caught two silver salmon, one trolling in the lake, and one fly-fishing with a dry fly. I also had a nice bass. Mike, as usual, caught way more (all catch and release), mainly because he is both more persistent and a much better fly caster than I. We all got in a lot of reading and relaxation when not wetting our lines.

Back at the Hoehstead around 4:30 p.m. Monday, we were very happy to see everything sunny and green and looked forward to sleeping once again in our own bed. We had a wonderful time on our mini trip, but there's no place like home!

By the way, I forgot to write about my bottle/can collection last week, but I netted 50 cents. Nothing this past week, but in a very real way, that is good news. Hope to hear from you soon. dhoeh@megalink.net; 836-3011.

Five teenagers from the Berlin area were taken in ambulances to the hospital after the boat they were in flipped over on Umbagog Lake. None of the teens were wearing life jackets. Fortunately for them, the boat flipped in front of Mary Davis' camp and Vernon and Tammy Davis heard their cries for help. The Davises were able to rescue four of the kids while a second boater rescued the fifth. I have no news as to their condition at this time.

At 7 p.m. tonight, at the school house, there will be a Town Meeting concerning the school budget. Following that meeting will be an informative meeting concerning the FEMA Flood Insurance maps.

The Ladies Aid members will meet at 10 a.m. on Saturday to work on their quilt, which will be raffled on July 18. Bring sewing machines, irons and a lunch!

In 1866 Henry Willes from Waterloo, N.Y., suggested all shops close to honor soldiers who were killed in the Civil War. In the same time period, retired Major General

Jonathan Logan planned another ceremony, including a parade with veterans, to honor all soldiers who survived the war and "Decoration Day" was born and celebrated on May 30. In 1882 the name was changed to "Memorial Day" and was set aside to honor all soldiers who had died in any war. Memorial Day has evolved to a day for personal remembrance when folks honor their loved ones who have died, as well as the soldiers. It's good that folks still remember to put flags in cemeteries and fly them at their homes, not just enjoy family shindigs and an extra day off from work.

Contact Melanie Farmer to give or receive more information on the open house at the school which will be held on July 18; phone: 899-9995 or e-mail: melanief@megalink.net. Keep reading the column for updates on all the events that will be happening that day in Upton.

The spaghetti supper, benefit for Charlie LaVallee, will be 5-7 on June 6 at the Ladies Aid building — gonner be great food and a 50/50 raffle!

About 55 friends and relatives enjoyed a shindig hosted by Joe and Penny Bernier on Saturday. Neil and Joe pretty much dominated in the horseshoe contests. The food was delicious and the black flies were scarce. Fun!

Lou and Ellen Bernier and family of Waterford spent the night in their camper. Andre and Flossie Bernier of Rumford stayed at their camp. John and Georgia were home from Virginia and stayed in their camp. John left to go back to work, but Georgia and their two dogs are going to stay on at camp for a couple, three weeks.

Peas are up. Time to plant the rest of the garden, eh? Selah.

The weather for Memorial Day was great. The sun was out most of the day. The wind was blowing quite a lot at times, but kept the bugs away.

We did not get to Bethel for the Memorial Day program. We had spent the last couple of days going around to the cemeteries to put out flowers, so decided to stay home and get some work done. Before getting busy with our work, we sat out in the swing with our morning coffee. I noticed a bird perched on the piece of machinery that the railroad had left on the siding. It looked like the same bird that was there the evening before. At first, I thought it was a swallow, but it did not act like one. It had a bright blue back and when it turned, I noticed the rusty throat and breast. It was an Eastern Bluebird! I have not seen one of those for years. I certainly hope it stays around.

My brother, Steve McLain, did get to Bethel and said that the presentation was quite nice. Sheriff Wayne Gallant was the speaker and Steve had a chance to speak to him afterwards.

Morgan McLean, daughter of Jamie and Alicia McLean of Gilead, was in the parade with the Brownie Troop. Alicia is a leader for Morgan's group.

Lise McLain and her father, Gerard Dupont, had lunch at Mr. Pizza's in Gorham, N.H., this past week after Gerard's doctor's appointment.

Town Office
On June 2, 2009, there will be a School Budget meeting at the Gilead Town Hall at 7 p.m., for the purpose of determining the school budget for next year. The warrant is posted at the Town Office, the Town Hall and the Transfer Station. There are papers available at the Town Office and Bob Noyes, Transfer Station attendant, had some copies to hand out.

On June 9, 2009, the Gilead School Budget Validation Referendum will be held at the Town Hall from 10 a.m. until 8 p.m. This will consist of one question that seeks approval of the budget that was adopted at the meeting on June 2.

Dr. David Murphy, who is the Superintendent of Schools, will be attending the June 2 budget meeting to answer questions and explain how the town has to raise a certain amount of money in order to receive the Education Subsidy from the state of Maine.

Andover

by Melinda Averill

Hello Andover friends. Memorial weekend was quite nice. Lots of families were in town opening up homes for the summer, visiting the cemetery and attending the Alumni Banquet.

Seniors who attended the banquet and their parents were: Deagan Conrad, Amy Farrington, Candace Hall, Devin Hughes, Lindsey Milligan, Whitney Mills, Brandon Nadeau, and Audrienna Woods.

I would like to thank the Knights of Pythias, who did a great job with the Memorial Service on Monday. There was a good size crowd that attended. I would guess about 60 or so. Participating was Pastor Jane Rich, Pastor Ken Wagstaff, and Corey Mills, who played Taps. At one point in the ceremony, all of those who had served our country, either in conflict or peace, gathered for recognition and photos.

There will be a food sale at the First Congregational Church C.E.B on Saturday May 30, starting at 9 a.m. This will go toward supporting the hot lunch program at the Andover School. Last year they helped to give every Andover Elementary School child lunch for the school year.

The fifth-grade class at Andover will be holding a bottle drive on Saturday, starting at 9 a.m. This will go toward their end-of-the-year field trip to Boston, which is coming right up. If you aren't going to be home for pick-up on Saturday, you may drop your returnables off at the front porch of the school. You may also call the school at 392-4381.

Congratulations to Andrew Farrington, who recently graduated from the University of Maine at Orono Summa Cum Laude, with an accumulated 3.89 GPA. Andrew was on the dean's list for eight straight semesters. He was also Senior of the Year in Electrical Engineering Technology, inducted into the Francis Crowe Society for engineering excellence, and is a member of the National Society for Collegiate Scholars. He is currently working for TRC in Waterville.

Get well wishes to Edward Littlehale, who entered the hospital this past weekend.

Birthday celebrations: Saturday, the 30th, Nick Newman and Sara Anderson; on June 2, Jodi Putnam and June 3, Carl Cuff.

The Recreation Committee reported that they are talking about many new programs being scheduled for the summer — stay tuned.

Todd Porter was in town over the weekend. He was here visiting with his mother, Joy Porter, who now lives in Rumford Center.

Happenings at the selectmen's meeting, on Tuesday, May 19: A member of the Ellis River Riders Horse Club was present to ask permission from the town to put up a Park and Ride sign down on the town Grimaldi field. Selectmen put off voting on it; they will think about it. Also discussed was garbage cans down at the cemetery.

The Selectmen made two appointments: an Emergency Management appointment, Ken Dixon and Planning Board member, Lora Owings.

New complaint policy for the Fire Department was enacted. Have a nice weekend.

The Hanover Board of Select Persons met on Tuesday, May 19. They worked on information for the Comprehensive Plan Committee relating to road improvements and capital projects over the next 10 years. They also discussed Hanover finances and the way they are recorded. After interviewing two candidates for the Planning Board Alternate vacancy the Board declined to make a selection.

Thursday, May 21, the Comprehensive Planning Committee met and reviewed the nearly completed goals section. The committee decided to have a public informational meeting on Thursday, June 18, at the Town House at 12 Howard Pond Road. That meeting will probably be the last opportunity for taxpayers and residents to provide information or opinions that could change the proposed document before it goes to the voters at a Town Meeting for approval.

A memorial graveside committal service occurred last Friday at the Hanover Cemetery for Lindon U. Bartlett, a former Hanover resident who passed away during the winter. Lindy's widow, Jenny, her children, grandchildren and a great-grandchild attended. The group sang "God Bless America."

Andy Barlow recently purchased a new ATV. The machine is the first diesel-powered ATV that Andy has owned.

Many of the summer seasonal residents of Hanover returned over the three-day Memorial Day weekend. When more people are in the area so are some of the problems that occur. Property owners around Howard Pond should be aware that at least one vacant cottage was broken into last week. There was no report of anything taken or damaged other than the door at the point of entry.

Weekend guests of Donna and Clem Worcester were Matt and Jenny Tirrell and Apollo from Oxford. While here they enjoyed some fishing and the outdoors.

David Wainright has been released from Maine Medical Center and continues recuperating at home.

It also has been reported that Jeff Watts is home from the hospital following surgery and continues slowly improving.

Officials of Gardner Roberts Memorial Library are pleased to announce the addition of Internet and Wi-Fi capability. The committee is developing regulations for the use of the service.

My condolences to the family and friends of Andover resident Everett Hutchins who passed away last week.

The 80th Andover Alumni Banquet last Saturday night was a huge success. The graduating class of '09 was well represented, and I want to thank Amy Farrington for sharing her thoughts about her friend Dee Dee Palmer. It took a lot of courage to get up in front of all those people, and Amy you did a great job!

It also took a lot of courage for the Class of 1959 to march in, sit at a table with black balloons, yep black, and admit that yes, we really did graduate 50 years ago. There were eleven people in our class, and I am proud to say that every one of us except for the late Hugh Morton, were able to attend. Tom Learned came all the way from Missouri, we had a lot of fun catching up, and Nonie Myshraill Stecker gave a very funny speech about us and the fun we had as a class growing up in the great town of Andover.

After the banquet we all were able to go out to Nonie's for a party, which was a great way to end the evening.

The members of Class of 1959 are June Farrington Trenoweth, Jean Cushing Akers, Sharon Fitzherbert Hall, Raylene Learned Richard, Wynona Myshraill Stecker, Joan Stinson Carney, Paula Pervical Poor, Leon Simmons, Jack Ladd, and Tom Learned.

There are many people that I want to thank for working very hard to make the banquet the success that it was — Norma and Sharon Farrington for the great meal, Bette Davis and Marilyn Morton, were helping in the kitchen, the waiters who were really efficient. Freeman Farrington, his sons and some of his grandsons, Danny Wells, and Gary Marston for their help in moving chairs and tables. Paula Lee, Peggy Maddigan, Beanie Averill, and Terry Perry for being on the committee that made it such a success; I even forgave them for the black balloons. Andover Alum Patty Emmens Clark was the keynote speaker, Pastor Jane Rich and Pastor Ken Wagstaff and Kathy Wagstaff graced the head table. If I have left anyone out, please forgive me, I'm getting old you know.

Speaking of graduates, I want to recap about Andrew Farrington. He graduated Summa Cum Laude last week from the University of Maine, Orono, with a gpa of 3.89 and had eight straight semesters on the Dean's List. He was the Electrical Engineering Technology Senior of the Year. When he was a sophomore he won the Electrical Engineering Award. He was inducted into the Francis Crowe Society for engineering excellence and is a member of the National Society for Collegiate Scholars. He is now working for TRC in Waterville. His parents, Keith and Janet Farrington, are, needless to say, very proud of him.

On Saturday, May 30, there will be an Old Fashion Food Sale at the Andover Congregational Church. It will start at 9 a.m., coffee will be served and raffle items will be available. I'll "see ya" there!

Crystal Ayward has been living with her mother, my niece Elsie, for some time now.

When she moved back to Maine, she brought her dog, Moose, with her. Now, Moose is a big cinnamon-color dog with a lot of character, part boxer, I think.

He is young, energetic and loves to chew stuff, lots of stuff of almost every imaginable type. He is forever bringing home tree branches, sticks and small logs, which he leaves scattered around the yard after he finishes with them.

Often he drags firewood sticks off the woodpile and chews on them. Elsie wishes he would learn to bring firewood out of the woods and put it on the pile! Everything around the house is fair game to Moose, also, including toothbrushes and curling irons.

His most unusual "conquest" is a tractor seat in a full-size tractor, belonging to a neighbor and parked in Elsie's back yard for the winter. I don't know how he got into the tractor, but he eviscerated the seat, which will probably cost Crystal plenty!

We have been hauling firewood from Elsie's big pile that she had a picture of in the "Citizen" a few weeks ago. As soon as I truck off a load of wood, Elsie rakes up the sawdust uncovered from under the woodpile.

Even now, approaching the end of May, she is still uncovering ice preserved under the woodpile and sawdust.

Last Sunday, as Mona and I were driving past Emerson Clough's house, we noted a rather large cloud of blue smoke in front of the house. At first, we thought Emerson was burning rubbish or starting a charcoal grill, but as we watched, we saw that he was driving his lawn tractor, and the blue smoke was pouring out of the front of the engine. Looks like he may need a ring job, or something, before long!

On the 20th I had my hair done at Gail and Debbie's hair parlor and then met Jean Gardner afterward at the Lorenzo Baker's. Jan and Renzo were at school and Renzo was home. We visited them at Gould a bit and then went over to Pat's Pizza where we both enjoy dining. We had a wonderful visit. She hasn't been back in Maine too long and I hadn't seen her since last fall. Later I heard Jan drove her around Bethel and even up to see the top of Paradise looking over to the White Mountains, one of Mark's and my favorite places.

At last my lilac bush is beginning to bloom. Such a sweet smelling addition to the watery greenery of late.

On Saturday, Mark came out to help do some weed whacking and getting lots of brush and leaves moved and mowed so we can cut the lawn grass soon. I do hear lots of mowers in the area. We had lunch and went for a short walk up the Branch Road to the brook. On our way back I showed him where the gopher has made quite a deep hole in the area just to the right of the road. I thought it was a fox hole where they usually build in the spring. My neighbor told me that foxes love to dine on gophers, so chances are it won't be residing there after they arrive.

On my way in to Bethel this week there were 5 to 9 cars parked at the Grafton Loop trail. I hear it's quite a long trip and have hoped to climb it, or go part of the way before turning back someday.

Puzzle Mountain Bakers with its delicious pies and jams opened this week for the summer.

I was told by the grapevine that Heather Vail celebrated a very special birthday recently with family and friends.

Locke Mills

by Lorraine Larson

Here I am again trying to get a news column written at the last minute. I was sure I had left me enough time this morning but it is never enough. If I could find something like a WordPad on this program I am using it would help but I haven't found one yet, so I have to write on an e-mail and that has a way of dropping me when I write too long a message. Technology is wonderful when one has the right technology, but I am finding that, like everything else, some is better than others.

Debbie Brown took me to Lewiston a few days ago. I haven't been to Lewiston only once since I stopped driving, and it is amazing how much bigger it gets all the time. I used to spend a lot of time there when my husband was alive, as we visited Uncle Fritz and Aunt Norma Peterson quite a lot and, when Andy had his cancer treatments we were there every day, it seemed like. Now Andy is gone and so is Uncle Fritz.

I talked with Aunt Norma a couple days ago. She is now 95 and living in Saco at a residents' home there. She says that if you can't be home it is a nice place to live, so I am glad Ruthann, her daughter, found her a nice place near her. Her other daughter is now in Saco, too, and a lot of her grands and great-grands live there. It is just that it is a ways from me but that isn't important as we keep in touch through that other wonderful piece of technology called the telephone. She sounds much stronger than she did when she first moved in so it has been good for her to have someone looking out for her all the time.

That said, the times when I was there, the city was building the overpass onto Russell Street and the hospital was working on the parking garage and the Heart Center and now all are finished. In fact we parked in the parking garage and what a help that is. Andy and I were forever trying to find a place to park.

Turning to the home front, the new game on the computer is turning my hair gray. Not that it needs any excuse, mind you. It is just that it is a lot like Tetris in that one has to get at least three colors together before they disappear, but it is more fun. I think it probably puts my blood pressure up as these colored balls go around and one is supposed to get rid of them before they all disappear down a hole. It has different levels of difficulty and I am up to level six but I cannot get past that. It gets frustrating and I see colored balls zoom around in my head for a long time after. I don't know enough to stop playing it though. I do have a set limit on the time I spend on it. I find that if I don't, I would go on when I should be doing something else. These stupid things are certainly addictive! Woops times up! I have to send this off. Hope to see you next week.

West Paris

by Joyce Lamb

Summer finally came in and gave us two beautiful, hot days. I tried to finish my raking but gave up before I landed in the compost heap with the leaves and dead grasses.

The lilacs all came fully out in time to take several bouquets to the cemetery. Every thing there looked so nice, all mowed with flowers everywhere.

Today (Sunday) did give us some rain but there is a promise of good weather for Memorial Day parades here in Oxford County.

The Rev. Richard Beal will conduct the service at the West Paris Universalist Church on Sunday, May 31, at 9 a.m. It will be followed by a social/coffee hour. All are invited to attend.

On May 30 the Universalist Church will hold its annual Rhubarb Pie Sale at the Church from 9 to noon. The rhubarb, like the lilacs, grew quickly, and it is now ready for pie making.

Don't forget Old Home Days on June 5 and 6. Events will be held near the Town Office and the fire station.

Great-grandson Nicolas Hartley was honored on his eighth birthday with a party at his home in Auburn given by his parents, Kelly and Cameron Hartley. Many cousins and relatives including three great-grandmothers attended. Games, led by his father, were played and lunch was served. A birthday cake made by his mother was in the theme of Indiana Jones. The guest of honor opened his many gifts. Florence McLaughlin and Joyce Lamb, great-grandmothers of West Paris, enjoyed the gathering.

The travel to Auburn was colorful, for white and purple lilacs were in bloom everywhere. Mother Nature keeps the world beautiful most of the time. Even the snow on the bare trees in the cold of winter is beautiful. We will enjoy the many kinds of flowers for quite a while yet.

Muffin is enjoying the sun porch and naps there often. She does get excited when leaves are blowing near the full-length glass door and would like to chase them.

Albany

by Sheila Dyke

Greetings and hello from Albany Township. We certainly hope that everyone out there enjoyed their long weekend (we hope you had a long weekend!). Despite the weather being rather chilly, we were able to get out and enjoy some yard sales and a nice cookout at a friend's this past weekend. Dana's brother and his family popped by on Monday for a nice visit (and to drop off a cat!). Now we're just all trying to get used to each other.

"What lies behind us and what lies before us are tiny matters compared to what lies within us." --Ralph Waldo Emerson

Best wishes for a happy and safe week. God Bless and Keep.

Historical Society

The Museum has old photos of Woodstock all around the room downstairs, so you can get a true sense of the character of the community. In the center of the one wall are photos of Christopher Bryant's descendants, while on the opposite wall are posters of entertainments in town over the years. Do visit the museum this summer. It is open starting in June from 1 to 4 p.m. on Saturday. Meetings are the second Saturday of each month.

Larry got a used green Saturn station wagon from B & K Motors, so he can do things for the Historical Society and run his other errands locally.

Memorial Weekend was glorious except for a few passing showers. The temperature was just about right for May. The holiday came very early and that confused people who kept thinking it should be warmer because it was Memorial Day; but it was so early this year that not everything was in bloom that usually is by the holiday. We haven't planted too much yet, as we have had so many frosts. We are waiting for the usual full moon in June. That arrives on June 7. So we are getting out our planting shovels and keeping those seedlings going until then. Our chicks are growing leaps and bounds. They still are under the heat lamps, but growing fast. No broilers or turkeys this year. That was a lot of work, so just laying hens for us.

Thursday, the 28th, Mountain Poets will hold their monthly poetry reading. All are welcome. It is at 7 p.m. at Fare Share Commons on Main Street in Norway. FMI call 743-0583 or 743-9808. Friday, the 29th, there is the Special Luminaria Ceremony remembering those lost to cancer and honoring the survivors.

It is at 9 a.m. at Oxford Hills High School track. The Relay for Life begins there at 6 p.m. FMI American Cancer Society 1-800-ACS-2345.

Also on Friday it is open Mic Night at the First Universalist Church, 479 Main Street in Norway. Sign-ups begin at 6:30. There is a $3 donation, refreshments available. All invited. Call Heather at 935-4505.

Saturday, the 30th, is the annual Bethel Library Plant Sale. It is from 9 to 10 a.m. All proceeds go to the library. For help digging or transportation, call Susan Parker 824-4767 or Susan Day 824-2741 or John Applin 836-3421. Labels are available at the library to label your plant donations.

Saturday at Bridgton Town Hall there is a Community Contra dance with music by Perpetual Motion. It is at 26 North High Street from 7 to 11 p.m. and the cost is $5.

Monday, June 1, the Socrates Cafe will meet at 6:30 p.m. at the Waterford Library. It is a forum to discuss current topics. Moderator is: Jim Kearney. FMI call 583-6957.

That is all for this week. Have a great week and take care of your plants.

THS Varsity Baseball

Telstar 12, Carrabec 1; May 20— Telstar's Dan Whitney had two hits, with two RBIs, while pitching a complete game three-hitter, striking out 10 Carrabec hitters. Ben Cross, Ben Field, Kyle Peterson, and Corey Howard were all repeat hitters. Corey Howard crushed a triple and James Kimball and T.J. O'Connor knocked out doubles.— Coach Bob Remington

THS Varsity Softball

Telstar 6, Mt Abram 0; May 22— Telstar's Kayla Merrill threw a 3 hitter and struck out 8 to lead the Rebels. Nicena Walker had two hits including a triple and scored 2 runs as did Kayla Merrill, TJ Cowin added two hits and Lindsay James' two run single in the fifth inning broke open a close game.— Coach Jim Lunney

Telstar 6, Carrabec 1; May 20— Telstar's Candace Hall struck out 14 and limited Carrabec to three hits. The Telstar nine broke open a scoreless game with five runs in the sixth inning as the Rebels played small ball to go ahead of the Cobras. Whitney Mills walked and scored the game's first run as the Rebels bunted and hustled their way to the win. Kayla Merrill scored two runs and added a base hit, T.J. Cowin and Nicena Walker added singles and scored a run during the decisive inning. Sam Largess also scored in the fifth and aided Candace by calling a very good game behind the plate.— Coach Jim Lunney

THS J.V. Softball

Telstar 12, Mt. Abram 9; May 19—Telstar's Sarah Averill and Nicena Walker shared pitching duties, allowing eight hits, five walks, and nine strikeouts. Tasha Farnum led the offense with three hits; two hits each for Victoria Forkus and Gail Lavorgna, and singles for Nicena Walker and Jean Lawrence. For the first time all year the Rebels were able to score in each inning of the game. Kallie Brown had a great sacrifice bunt and a 2-3-2 double play was turned Nicena Walker and Tasha Farnum to spark the defense.— Coach Mark Kenney

TMS Varsity Baseball

Livermore 17, Telstar 15 (10 innings); May 21— Telstar's Nic Mills, Buddy Williamson, and Kurt Morgan combined for the pitching for the Rebels. Kurt Morgan lead the hitting attack with two homeruns and a single, while Alec Manning added two singles and a double, and Nic Mills, Zack Mills, Ricky James, Buddy Williamson, Zack Hiltz, and Micheal Del Duca all added a hit. — Coach Tim O'Connor

TMS J.V. Softball

Telstar 17, Livermore Falls 4; May 21— The TMS JV softball team defeated Livermore Falls 17-4. Jenny Wakefield not only did a great job pitching she made some great plays while on the mound. Grace Connors did a great job in the outfield. Three nice double plays were made in the game, two unassisted, one by Molly Bruce the other by Ellie Conrad. The third double play was made by Vanessa Godwin and Katie Merrill. The team did a great job swinging the bats. Repeat hitters were Alex Leff with three hits and Katie Merrill with two. Jenny Wakefield, Grace Connors, Hall Barter, Molly Bruce and Vanessa Godwin also had hits. It was a great effort by the whole team. — Coach Linda Cozzolino

Recommended amounts set forth below:
Total Appropriated (by municipality) Total Raised (and District assessments by municipality)

School District		School District
Appropriated (Sum of above)	$7,185,843.00	Total Raised (Sum of Above)	$5,424,689.00

The Board of Directors recommends $941,559.00 for additional local funds and gives the following reasons for exceeding the State's Essential Programs and Services Education model by $744,398.00. These funds are needed because of a reduced level of state aid and to provide smaller class sizes than are recognized by the Essential Programs and Services funding model; to pay for certain services not recognized by the Essential Programs and Services funding model; and to pay for transportation costs not recognized by the Essential Programs and Services funding model.

Explanation: The additional local funds are needed to raise the total amount of funds needed above the District's local contribution to the total cost of funding public education from kindergarten to grade 12 as described in the Essential Programs and Services Funding Act. ## From Oxford County Democrats

A forum on Health Care Reform entitled "Healthcare Reform: Will Small Business Benefit?" was offered as part of the Oxford Hills Showcase on Saturday, May 9, from 11-noon at Oxford Hills Comprehensive High School. The forum was sponsored by the Oxford County Democrats and was moderated by state Representative Terry Hayes of Buckfield, and was organized by Roy Gedat of Norway.

Reforming the healthcare system is a major priority for President Obama and Congress. The program featured a panel of experts to share their perspective on how reform will help small business thrive. Panelists were Dr. Tom Whitney of South Paris, a strong proponent for Single Payer Healthcare; Nathan Libby, a field organizer for the Service Employees International Union; and Doug Clopp, an advocate/lobbyist for the Consumers for Affordable Health Care in Augusta. An excellent synopsis of ideas for a workable solution for healthcare reform and the process taking place in Congress was presented.

The Oxford County Democrats sponsored an informational booth at the Showcase with materials on the Democratic Party. Roy Gedat of Norway, Toni Seger of Lovell, Russ Newcomb of Greenwood staffed the booth.

Other events held in May included a meeting and Healthcare Forum in Bethel on May 3 with John Graham of Congressman Michaud's office and Nathan Libby of SEIU speaking. Julian Federer of Organizing for America held a session at Telstar High School as part of his listening tour around the state on Healthcare. Many shared opinions and personal stories on the need for access to affordable health care.

The County Democrats Field Trip to the Statehouse took place on May 5. Attendees met privately with Governor Baldacci in his office, and were recognized in the House and Senate. Following lunch in the cafeteria with legislators, the group attended public hearings and work sessions.

Plans are in the works for the usual appearances by the Oxford County Democrats at the many festivals and parades throughout the county. The date for the annual Summer Family Fun Day and BBQ has been set for Sunday, Aug. 30, in Bryant Pond.

County Chair Cathy Newell welcomes additions to the electronic newsletter sponsored by the Oxford County Democrats. Those wishing to be added to the list may call 875-2116 or e-mail cathy@megalink.net. The website for the County Democrats is www.oxforddems.org and the Facebook group is Oxford County ME Democrats.

Division Three winners were: First, Tarin McLaughlin, Grade 5, Crescent Park; Second, Andrew Siegel, Grade 5, Crescent Park; Third, Ani Inman, Grade 5, Crescent Park. All winners received in addition to the cash prize, a ribbon and certificate. Much appreciation is expressed to all who participated, as well as to the judges, those who hanged the entries (Arlene Lowell, Kathy Bennett, Ginger Kelly) and the anonymous donors who helped make the cash prizes possible.

The art show honors the memory of Faye Sanborn Taylor (1908-1972), a local landscape painter, who was very interested in encouraging the creative talents of young people. She was also a charter member of the Bethel Historical Society and served as its first treasurer.

St. Never's Day Sale
The annual St. Never's Day sale held on Saturday, May 23, and continued through the Memorial Day weekend was a success. Many thanks to all the donors who contributed items for the sale and to the dedicated volunteers who helped, including Annie Hastings, Grace McKivegan, Jackie Bell, Jean Owen, Pat McCartney, Edie Doyle, Jay Boschetti, Lucy Nordahl, June Abbott and Tineke Ouwinga. State Historian and longtime director of the Maine Historic Preservation Commission Earle G. Shettleworth, Jr. will be the featured speaker at the second lecture in the 2009 series, "Celebrating Western Maine History," sponsored in part by a grant from the Maine Humanities Council on June 4 in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Mr. Shettleworth's topic will be "Two Centuries of Maine Homes" with a particular focus on western Maine. A leading expert on Maine's architectural history, Shettleworth will provide a survey of a wide variety of Maine homes over the past two hundred years. The lecture is free and open to all.

Bethel Performing Arts Project

From all the positive and "over the top" comments expressed about the Bethel Community Players' murder mystery dinner theater production held at The Victoria Inn, it was a rousing success. Each of the three dinner theater evenings, held May 14, 15, and 16, was booked to capacity. The Bethel Performing Arts Project (BPAP) sponsored the dinner theater as their first offering this year.

This delightful dinner theater comedy, "Good Help is So Hard to Murder" by Pat Cook, was capably directed by Lynn Arizzi, BPAP co-organizer. The cast included Carol Campbell, Leigh Dickinson, Lorrie Hoeh, Sharon Lyon, Tineke Ouwinga, Roberta Taylor, Carole Timberlake and Rosabelle Tift. They were assisted by Ross Timberlake, who worked "magic" with lighting, and Joe Arizzi, who made the play come alive with sound.

Lynn said the play was a great experience and a stretching one for the cast members.

She added that this was the second dinner theater production of the Bethel Community Players and they have proven themselves quite capable of the challenge.

Ross Timberlake, co-organizer of BPAP with Lynn, said BPAP hopes to continue an ongoing partnership between the performing arts community and the business community, schools, churches and nonprofit organizations. Both he and Lynn are interested in hearing from the Greater Bethel Community on ideas for participating and sponsorship of future projects, as well as helping shape BPAP through Advisory Committee membership.

For more information, businesses may call Ross at 824-6545, and performers may call Lynn at 824-0080.

Notice of Tax Acquired Property Sale

The Board of Selectmen of the Town of Woodstock is accepting bids for the purchase of the municipality's interest in a tax-acquired property. Each bid must be in writing and in a sealed envelope marked "Tax Sale Bid" on the outside. All bids must be received by the Board of Selectmen at the Woodstock Town Office no later than 5:00 o'clock p.m. on Tuesday June 2, 2009. Late bids will not be opened or considered.

Each bid must also include the bidder's name, mailing address and phone number and must be accompanied by a deposit in the form of a certified check or money order, in an amount equal to or greater than 10 % of the bid price. Each successful bidder's deposit will be credited to the total purchase price for that parcel. Deposits will be returned to the unsuccessful bidders. Any bid which does not contain the proper deposit will be rejected.

Bids will be opened, reviewed and awarded by the Selectmen at the Town Office on Tuesday, June 2, 2009 at 5:00 o'clock p.m. The Board of Selectmen does reserve the right to reject any and all bids.

Each successful bidder shall have 10 days from the date of the bid acceptance in which to complete the purchase. The property will be conveyed by a quitclaim deed without covenants. In the event that a successful bidder fails, for any reason, to complete the purchase in the time stated, the bid acceptance is void and the bidder's deposit shall be forfeited to the Town. The Board of Selectmen may thereafter negotiate a sale of the property with any or all unsuccessful bidders.

The property for sale is described on the Woodstock Town Tax Maps as:
Map 2 Lot 69
The tax maps and other public information concerning the property may be reviewed at the Town Office during its normal business hours, which are: Monday through Friday 8:30 am to 4:30pm.
